Our flexible online platform changes the game.

The most advanced source of energy market data is also the easiest to use.

SNL Energy offers complete energy market pricing via a flexible online platform.

SNL Energy provides comprehensive coverage of the commodities markets with easy-to-use tools, expert 24/7 support and training, one flat fee and a data accuracy guarantee that no other provider can match.

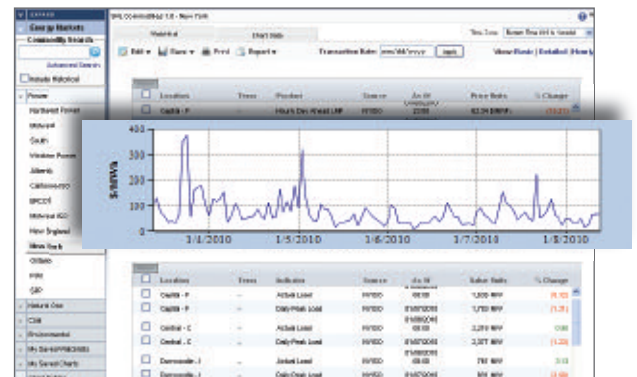

Through our interactive online platform, you can access standardized prices for power, natural gas, coal, oil and uranium in the U.S. and Canadian markets. Plus, we give you the tools for finding the price points you need quickly from the thousands available every hour.

Name the market and SNL covers it.

With SNL, you gain instant access to thousands of nodal, zonal and hub price points across the U.S. and Canada. SNL covers all Day-Ahead, Hour-Ahead and hourly Real-Time LMP prices as well as hourly and forecasted loads from all North American ISO's. We also gather the congestion and line losses where available. View hourly load, forecasted load and prices in one chart.

SNL publishes price indexes for the North American power, natural gas, and coal markets, covering every major hub and production region. Our index methodology is endorsed by the Committee of Chief Risk Officers (CCRO) and approved by the FERC for use in contract settlements.

In addition to SNL's market indexes for spot power, coal, natural gas and emissions, our coverage includes CME forwards and futures, which span the Power, Natural Gas, Coal, Oil and Uranium markets.

Browse tens of thousands of data series, view a quick snapshot of current energy market prices or download historical data.

Flow our data into your Excel® models for fast, flexible analysis.

Not only does SNL cover every node, zone and hub, we make it easier for you to download and analyze the data with SNLxl, our powerful Excel Add-In tool. Export prices and charts into templates that refresh automatically as often as you like. SNLxl allows you to compare data of different reporting frequencies, download historical data and build forward curves.

Not sure where to start? SNL offers an extensive library of Excel templates that simplify the presentation of energy market data. And our product experts will help you build your own custom spreadsheets.

Easily compare prices across commodities and time frames for quicker analysis.

No longer do you have to search multiple sources with different formats for prices that may not even be publicly available. SNL collects prices from different markets in widely varying formats and standardizes them into a digestible format.
