JANUS EXPANDS UK DISCRETIONARY AND SUBADVISED COVERAGE
Former Franklin Templeton Executive Brian Clay To Lead Effort

LONDON – Janus Capital International Limited, the international arm of Janus Capital Group Inc. (NYSE: JNS), today announced the appointment of former Franklin Templeton executive Brian Clay as sales director for UK Financial Institutions.

Clay will oversee Janus Capital’s sales activities for UK financial institutions, targeting subadvised and discretionary asset management business. Clay will report to Thomas Fleck, Janus Capital’s European Co-Head of Financial Institutions.

During his seven years at Franklin Templeton, Clay was responsible for marketing the firm’s products to London-based financial institutions. He has more than 19 years experience in the investment industry. Prior to joining Franklin Templeton in 2000, Clay held several senior sales roles including four years with Generali International in Hong Kong and six years with Clerical and Medical Investment Group in London. Prior to that, he held sales roles with Scottish Widows and National Provident. Clay holds a master’s in business administration from the University of Hull, England.

“Brian’s appointment reflects our emphasis on building our UK subadvisory and discretionary asset management business,” said Fleck. “He brings a sound understanding of this UK market segment, an area that has great potential for our range of US and global investment strategies.”

As part of the firm’s focus on expanding its UK intermediary and discretionary asset management business, Janus Capital is seeking UK distributor status for a number of US and global funds within the Dublin-registered Janus Capital Funds Plc range. These are a series of funds introduced in 1998 by Janus Capital International. Modeled after some of Janus’ strongest-performing US-based funds, they offer a variety of US and global fundamental and risk managed mathematical investment disciplines.

The appointment of Brian Clay follows the recent hiring of former UBS Global Asset Management Executive Howard Nowell as head of Janus' UK institutional sales. Nowell oversees Janus Capital's institutional sales activities for UK corporate and local-authority pension plans.

Through the development of two distinct equity processes over more than three decades, Janus Capital aims to give its clients real choice in how they achieve performance – and in the level of risk they take relative to the market. The Janus approach seeks to deliver solid absolute returns driven by fundamental research and a focus on bottom-up stock selection with few benchmark constraints. Conversely, the mathematical approach from Janus Capital subsidiary INTECH aims to create a more efficient portfolio that can deliver higher returns than the index at the same level or lower levels of risk than the benchmark.
